NORWAY AND VICINITY.

We were treated to a big melon raised by Arthur Hebbard in his Paris Street home garden where big hens and large eggs abound. This melon was one of a cart load raised by him. He requested we save and return the seeds to him, which we have done. Evidently Arthur is not going to let the seeds get away from him.

DEMOCRATS MADE GAIN

Revised figures of the vote cast for governor in Norway at the State election show that the Democrats here made a gain of 83 votes for their candidate over that cast by them in 1914. The total vote this year was 392 for Milliken and 353 for Curtis against 199 for Haines and 270 for Curtis two years ago.

Somehow the paper looks and reads all right if we didn't have anything to do but occasionally peek in and look sour and glum.

We rode round in a big car driven by a chauffeur just to let the public know, we didn't have to work.

Auto Drops in Hole.

A Pierce Arrow automobile, owned by Mrs. D. H. K. Burnett of East Orange, N. J., and driven by Michael Leucas, met disaster, Friday night, when it dropped into a hole on Main street near Hobbs' store. Besides Dr. Burnett and the chauffeur, were Miss Katherine Burnett, daughter of Mrs. Burnett and Mrs. Henry B. Twombly of Summit, N. J.

The party left East Orange last Sunday for a tour of New England and were on their way from the Poland Spring House to the White Mountains when the accident happened. The chauffeur was making his way carefully through the rain and along the newly built roadway when the earth gave way under him. The forward wheels dropped about 18 inches below the surface, snapping the forward axle and wrenching one of the springs. Mrs. Burnett, sitting in the tonneau with Mrs. Twombly, was jolted from her seat and badly shaken up, while Miss Burnett, on the front seat next to the chauffeur, was thrown against the wind shield.

While the car was being hauled out of the hole to be taken to Beck's garage for repairs, the women went to Beals' Tavern where they remained over night starting Saturday forenoon on their journey. Mrs. Burnett said it was the first accident to the machine since the party left home, although they have been over some pretty bad roads. The heavy rain was blamed for the washout causing the hole into which the car dropped.

Congregational Church Notes.

The annual Rally Day will be observed at the Congregational church on Sunday, October 1st. There will be a big special program at each service of the church. In the morning at 10:40 the pastor will preach upon the theme: "The Standards of Christian Service." The sermon will emphasize a phase of thought much before the public and it will be a good sermon to hear at this time. In the Sunday school there will be a unique program given by the scholars of the school. This exercise is called "Preparedness for Christian Service," and was prepared by E. D. S. Kinney especially for Rally Day observance.

At the evening service "Pilgrims Progress" will be shown in motion pictures. These beautiful pictures present a magnificent and spectacular Christian and moral lesson without a suggestion of sensationalism; and tell the story much more impressively than a reading of the book. Remember Rally Day, October First.

The men of the Congregational church will enjoy a Get-together Banquet on Friday evening, September 29th, at 7:30 o'clock. After the banquet Frank D. Tubbs, A. M., S. T. D., Bates college, most popular professor, will address the men upon the Mexican Situation. Most of the men will remember with pleasure the evening spent with Dr. Tubbs last winter and all will wish to hear him again. This occasion is for the men of the church and their friends.

Thrown from Wagon in the Dark. Walter S. Buck was thrown from his team Monday evening. He struck on his head and shoulders and was partially stunned. A large package of groceries fell from the wagon with him and he did not pick them up and some other fellow got them before Walter got around to where the accident occurred the next morning.

The up-set took place near Round Pond gateway and was caused by the horse getting into the ditch in the dark.

Mustard pickles and pepper sauce is the order of the day in well regulated homes.

"My horse tracked in the wheel-rut and it was dark and I was dumpped and stunned and gathered up what I could but didn't get the package of groceries—who do you suppose did?" This is what Walter Buck told us Tuesday morning.

Four big oxen and four good horses were used in totting the D. A. E. marker from Sodom to Witherell Park. R. K. Morrill did it. Oh, didn't he swell out and strut when he crossed the head of Main street? It was a fine looking team and a big load and he had a right to feel proud while in the service of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Somebody says the name of the Revolutionary Heroes are to be chisled onto the Sodom boulder in the Park. Don't do it. Get a bronze tablet and then they will be readable. It may cost a trifle more but who cares for money in such a patriotic enterprise?

Mrs. Charles M. Clough.

Mrs. Charles M. Clough, the mother of Mrs. C. F. Ridlon, passed away Sunday morning at 2 o'clock, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Herman Paragard, in Lynn, death being due to acute indigestion. Mrs. Clough had been in her usual health, but at midnight she called her daughter, and lived only two hours. She was about 70 years of age, and came to Norway in October, 1907, after the death of her husband in Saco, where they had resided for many years, to live with her daughter and husband. Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Ridlon. She spent the past winter with another daughter, Mrs. Paragard in Lynn, returning to Norway the first of July, where she remained until Labor Day, when Mr. and Mrs. Paragard came to Norway in their auto, Mrs. Clough returning with them. On their way home, they stopped in Saco over night and she saw many of her old time friends, and during the past two weeks, has referred often to the trip with its happy associations.

Four children survive her: Mrs. Charles F. Ridlon of Norway, Mrs. Herman Paragard, Mrs. George C. Stowe and Edward Clough, all of Lynn.

Norway-Waterford Schools.

Waterford schools commenced on Labor Day. This made up a day in advance for attending the county fair at Norway.

Waterford is unusually fortunate this year in having trained teachers for all its nine schools. Seven are Normal graduates and two have taken courses in secondary schools. I believe that not a better showing for trained teachers is to be found in the state for a town of the size of Waterford. It is now necessary to support and encourage these teachers in their work that we may get the most out of the year's work. Contented teachers get results.

A large number of Waterford pupils have entered secondary schools this fall. Although the fall enrollment for the common schools is not complete, yet judging from appearances, at the schools, there are more pupils in the schools this year than last year.

The largest entering class at Norway High School was registered Sept. 11th, there being fifty. There are about thirty tuition pupils enrolled this year, which means $900 in tuition money for the year. In 1912 there were six tuition pupils. As soon as all pupils return to the school there will be about 140 enrolled. Last year there were just one hundred. There is no reason why we should not have a school of 200, provided we could provide room at the high school to accommodate them together with places for board and rooms in the village. This would mean a large income to the whole town and would make Norway an educational center for Oxford County pupils.

The large entering class has made it necessary to take over the eighth grade room for high school purposes as no other room can furnish accommodations for recitation work in English and Algebra when the whole class recites together. Neither will the assembly room accommodate the whole school.

As a consequence of this necessity, each grade in the building has been moved back one room, which has left the third grade to be accommodated elsewhere than in the building. Arrangements have been made whereby the small vestry at the Congregational church will be fitted up for the use of this grade for the present term at least.

The three upper grades will be assigned recitation rooms on the first floor at the Academy building and the sixth grade will be assigned to the formerly ninth grade room.

Elizabeth McCreery of Pittsburg, Pa., is to teach the music and drawing. She is a graduate of the Thomas Normal Training School of Detroit. She taught in the Detroit schools last year.

HANGING ROUND THE STOVE.

I remember well as A. B. O. and his partner Bill had to me.

"Let's take some of our hard earned plunk and not grow up to be a dunce."

"Let's start and hang round the stove, I'm tired of hanging round the stove."

"And now is the time to travel round before for life we settle down."

"So come with me without excuse of working, tell me what's the use."

"We went down to New York so gay, and saw the lights of New Broadway."

"My pockets were full of chink, I did not spend a cent for drink, and round the stove then we did go."

"We saw the Gulf of Mexico. We stayed a while at New Orleans, where cotton grows to make your jeans; but soon we took a quiet tip and swam across the Mississippi."

"We visited the Rio Grande, where soldiers now in line they stand; and went to San Antonio, where things are always on the go."

"We left the State of Washington, and went to the land of the midnight sun. When there together, we did berth and round the stove then we did go."

"It was really quite a hike for men to travel on a bike, said, 'Bill, where shall we go next?'"

"To Europe we went, our respects. We went to France and Italy, to Turkey, Greece and Germany."

"And saw the lights of New Broadway, in London on the River Thames. Then once again we crossed the sea and went to the land of mystery—To Egypt and the river Nile."

"And saw the sphinx that never smiled. We stood and watched an Arabian tribe start to cross the desert with their pack. Seated on the camels back."

"In do we went to old Brazil. I looked around with partner Bill, we watched the mighty Amazon as to the sea it journeyed on."

"In Australia we stayed a week. We watched the natives shearing sheep. And learned to throw the boomerang. We started back to France, Maine."

"Glad when the land in sight it bore. I said 'We've traveled round the globe, and soon we got on board a train.'"

"And traveled back to Norway, Maine. Just pack your grip is my advice, dig down and you can get the price, just and see the Mammoth Cave."

"And not forever be a slave. Just travel round this great domain and put a polish on your brain; if you would learn a heavy 'pure' just quit you hanging round the stove."

"We may travel in foreign climes. From East unto the West, give me the word, I'll be there three, the home for me is best."

HERE is an economy wave over the land. American people are beginning to realize that they are living too fast, beyond their means. It has been the rule that the man with $20,000 a year as well as the man with $2,000 a year lives up to every penny of his income. Slowly but surely this order of things is changing. The era of extravagance and waste in business and personal expenses is nearing an end. Efficiency and economy is the order of the day. Bank deposits are growing.

It is up to every one to economize. The best and surest way to do so is to place your surplus in the bank. If you already have a bank account make it a point from today on to increase it. Add to it weekly, daily if possible.

IF YOU HAVEN'T A BANK ACCOUNT DECIDE TO OPEN ONE TODAY.

We pay 2 per cent. interest on check account of $500 and over, on even hundreds. Interest credited to your account last of every month. SAVINGS DEPARTMENT CONNECTED WITH BRANCH BANK AT BUCKFIELD, MAINE.

A World Record.

Musical editors in the big centers are making not of the fact that a Maine man has achieved a world's record in conducting, and this man is none other than William Rogers Chapman, of Bethel, so familiarly and so widely known as the organizer, conductor and conductor of the Maine Music Festivals for twenty years.

Mr. Chapman is the only living man in the entire world who has the distinction of having conducted an unbroken series of concerts for 20 years in any one place. And he has directed both chorus and orchestra and every number in the annual festival of every concert given in the annual festivals at Portland and Bangor in those twenty years.

The splendid support given by Maine people to the annual festivals has given encouragement to Mr. Chapman and has enabled him to accomplish such an enviable record, and the State of Maine shares in the honor that has come to her native son.

Mr. Chapman has also another wonderful record. He has been conductor for the Rubinstein Club of New York City for 30 consecutive years, a record unapproached by any other musical director in this or any other country. The Rubinstein club is the leading musical organization of women in New York.

"EQUESTRIAN RIVALRY."

Logansport, Indiana, Sept. 11, 1916.
Norway Advertiser:
I have just read the article from Bert Dennison on "Equestrian Rivalry" published in the last number of the Advertiser.

I think it may bring out quite a number of the boys who were in one of the contests, to reply. Several of us boys had for several years been taking little exercise for our colts as soon as the snow had left enough bare ground in the streets to give us relief from the long winter's snow.

I think this start was made by Ed Smith, Brother Cyrus and I going over to South Paris village one afternoon, which seemed to suggest to a few of the South Paris boys, returning the call a few days after.

As Will Woodbury, our village liveryman, was a South Paris boy, and always had some good saddle horses, he I think, suggested that we take their call as a challenge.

So the next Sunday afternoon under his leadership we mustered a good number, as many as we could well find in the village. I think about fifty. That brought a return of probably a hundred. Then, we went after every one we could muster either in the village or up town, which was a good number and created just a nice rivalry; we formed there about their public square, where we dismounted and were very nicely received.

This brought a return the next Sunday of the whole town of Paris, with their several villages, and as it seemed every horse that could use four legs, with a rider of boys from ten years old up to the grandfathers.

They formed from the Elm House toward the tannery, as far as the line could reach. We gave them a loyal reception with a lunch to show our good feeling, and this ended one of the pleasant events for the two towns, leaving only the best feeling.

This little rivalry was very different from that of the two towns fighting for the division line, which was taken to Legislature, and was changed several times, before coming to present boundary line.

I am also interested in the letters from your editor, F. W. Saborn, who has been having such a long siege of sickness. I surely hope he may soon get home fully restored in health.

I do not know very well how to sympathize with such a siege of laying off from active life.

When I was discharged from the army at New Orleans, 14th Reg., Co. G, I asked the Surgeon why he made out my discharge. I had had the Diphtheria while we were on Ship Island, I did not go to the hospital, as Al Hutchinson, the Assistant Steward, said he would take care of me in my tent, so I was out and ready for light duty. The surgeon said it was much cheaper to send me home than to bury me there in New Orleans, (most of the boys thought I would not get home). Dave McWain wrote that I was discharged, and just gone aboard steamer for New York, but he did not think I would reach home. And Dave was one of the boys killed at the battle of Baton Rouge, before his letter reached home.

Well, I got home safely, and have been up and dressed every day since.

I can see and hear Uncle Mark Smith now as he used to tell the stories of "Ty Danforth, who was the sharpest boy in a trade, and of that particular deal in the merchandise that he would buy to sell again to Uncle Mark. In buying of the other boys—the least little mixture of other stock and it "want worth nothing," but he knew when he sold the same to Uncle Mark questions were asked, and he got full price.

Father used to tell one on the older brother of "Doll Young—not of special business trait—but to show his skill in practice, he was called the laziest boy in the village, and when his father sent him to hoe in the garden one hot day, he could not go on account of a big corn on one of his toes, and when his father demanded a show down, he revealed a good kernel of corn tied onto one of his toes.

Of course that relieved him of untruthfulness, but it did not excuse him from his work that time.

The whole country is anxiously looking to Maine to-day, for your State Election. I hope it is as pleasant as it is here, and you know that means that the Republicans will come nearer getting a full vote, than in bad weather, when Democrats vote regardless of the weather.

I am certainly glad that Norway village is likely to have the main street in such condition that it will be passable the year through, I shall think of it in that condition, even if I never see it.

We have had more than our usual allowance of hot weather this season.

Yours very truly,

Henry Tucker.

A Missionary from South Africa Writes

In the year 1886 I purchased a Glenwood Range and after using it for fifteen years in South Africa and transporting it 380 miles from Natal to the Transvaal on an ox team, and using it under varying circumstances with various kinds of fuel, I am pleased to be able to state that your stove gave entire satisfaction both as regards utility and economy. WATERFORD

Lived Over 100 Years.
Waltham's oldest woman resident, Mrs.
Harriet W. McWain, died in Waltham, Mass., at the age of 100 years 11 months, her death occurring less than a month after she had become the oldest woman in the city through the death of Mrs. Julia Boudrot, who passed away at the age of 110.

For over a year Mrs. McWain has been confined to her bed at her home, which she has made for many years with her daughter, Mrs. E. L. Hamlin, 590 Main street.

Mrs. McWain was born in Waterford, Me., Oct. 29, 1815, and passed her early years in that village. She married Wm.
D. McWain of Waterford, who died 66 years ago.

She is survived by two brothers, Emerson and Henry Kilgore of Norway, and a daughter, Mrs. Hamlin, with whom she lived, and two sons, Daniel McWain of Newton and George McWain of Worcester and several grandchildren.

Mrs. McWain always took an interest of the affairs of the country and State, keeping posted upon the events of the day, by having her daughter read to her the daily papers. She was a great lover of poetry, Longfellow and Whittier being her favorite poets. She has been unable to walk on account of a fall which seriously injured one of her hips, and for the past year she has been confined to her bed. She retained her faculties until the last.

She celebrated her 100th birthday, Oct.
29, 1915, and she took great pleasure in the reception that was held in her honor, which has been pleasantly remembered by her. She was always particularly bright and cheerful. Funeral services were held in Waltham Friday, and the body was taken to Waterford, where prayers were held in Elmvalle cemetery, Sunday afternoon.

Having been requested by many of the business men of our town to erect homes, which at this time are so much needed, we have worked out a plan somewhat similar to which will enable anyone with a little cash to own a home of their own, paying for it in easy monthly installments.

We have cuts of all kinds of residences, with estimates of cost which we will be pleased to show to those interested.

Select your location and style of house and we will give you the exact cost to you per month.

CHAS G. BLAKE

MEREDITH CENTER, N. H., BARN DOOR ARTICLE

Written and Printed to Amuse the Writer, who in His Second Childhood is Marooned in the Haunts of His First Childhood.

"Justice is the only worship,
Love is the only prayer,
Ignorance is the only slavery.
Happiness is the only good.
The time to be happy is now.
The place to be happy is here.
The way to be happy is to make other people happy."

The above didn't originate with me.
It's good and everybody is supposed to know its author. It sounds something like what is chiseled on the grave stone of the late Cyrus M. Buck of Greenwood, but it isn't.

A change of Eugene Fields' toast to Charles A. Dana of the New York Sun, and known as the "Elks" toast:

"Here is hoping you may live a thousand years and that I may live a thousand years less one day as I would not want to live after you were gone away."

The sentiment is good; time long.

When I was a boy Meredith Center was something of a place. I remember when there were two stores here, a wooden mill, wool carding mill, grist and saw mill.
They have all gone except the latter and this is silent most of the time.

I recall riding on the log carriage,
when an up-and-down saw was run. Bill Swain owned and operated it. He sold the saw mill to Gilman Plummer at about the beginning of the Civil War. The mill was operated by his son, Nathan G.
Plummer, after his return from the front
in a cavalry regiment.

It was a place of wonder and surprise;
it was so quick, powerful, and dangerous
cutting everything that came before it.
Shingles were sawed and I packed them into quarter-thousand bunches and received money for so doing. There was an knack or art ever in doing this, good, wide, knotless shingles were put on the bottom and on top, which made them look well. I was paid by the piece and soon became able to bunch them faster than they could be sawed. This gave me some spare time.

Occasionally I got work in the woolen mill running a winder. Here I learned the tying of a weavers' knot and was paid fifty cents per day of eleven hours.
There was no law prohibiting child labor
during vacations or nights and mornings while attending school. I'm glad there was not.

Parents controlled their children rather than the State through useless and troublesome legislation.

There wasn't as many fool-made laws
then as now and father and mother were the guardians and custodians of their flock. I won't say conditions are better now. I feel we have run riot in a false commission controlled education wherein the fundamental principles which should be taught are largely ignored. I'm completely out of gear with this kind of education. I believe in compulsory education only to a limited degree.

Perhaps the mill takes the place of the water driven mills as gasoline does steam. They are more economical and a larger profit is shown, hence the mill here is silent.

Sixteen reasonably good farms have dropped out since I left school here.
These are within a radius of a mile and a half from where I'm writing. I recall the families and the number of children.
They made considerable of the community and a big show at the church on Sunday.

They have gone. The fathers and mothers peacefully sleep in the family burial grounds, while their children are battling for existence elsewhere.
Sure, the land is here, but the tiller of the soil is not. These farms have been abandoned and are growing up to wood and timber, principally pine.

Two or more schoolhouses have been taken down and are no more. Several others are closed and all the children in this section could be accommodated in one house without crowding.

There were two carpenters with shops,
also two wheelwrights with shops; four blacksmiths' shops with that number of iron works. Let them be forgotten.
I'll give their names, Woodbury Corlies, David Philbrick, Smith M. Glidden and Wm. H. Cate, and the latter had an apprentice in Joseph Gilman. There was an ox-shoe's sling in each shop. Today John Shaw is in one shop, a partner in this section could be lost sight. There are few oxen in this vicinity. Horses do their work.

In the village proper a half dozen houses have been taken down or destroyed by fire. I think only one has been built in the past fifty years. There are two vacant houses and soon there will be more.

This is Meredith Center, N. H., where I lived from the age of 3 to 16—13 years —seemingly, the longest period of my life; in reality it was my legal residence 8 years longer but I've ever regarded it as home and the fields look greener and the flowers bloom brighter here than elsewhere.

The laying out of the railroad assisted in the center ruin as it did in Greenwood City in Maine. Four miles from a station makes a long haul and the water power here is none too good. And with the going of the stage coaches the public house closed when the owner died.

Elias Glidden, landowner, passed away in January, 1860. I recall the event as he was the first whose death was announced by the tolling of the new church bell.

I was a little shaver then and when the funeral procession moved to the grave they tolled the bell striking, as I then believed, one blow for each year of his life.
He was over 80 and the bell continued to be tolled even after the grave was filled.
Someone told me that I think "age-ting" was the custom at that time.

A part of the summer vacation in 1874
was spent on the side-hill farm of Deacon Asahel Sanborn of Tucker Hill, Chemuny where I was employed at haying and the reading of a text book on Mental Philosophy. The latter was done on rainy days after cleaning out the ty-up and pig pen.

I preferred manual labor to the mental strain of following Bishop Butler on Dr. Whalley, but as I'd got to pass an examination I did the mysterious menderings of their imagination. I had to do it. These books were "dry reading" to the other hands and they laughed and made fun of me. I got by in the examinations and that was all I wanted.

said three times daily.

Gider was seldom carried into the field but Asahel often visited the house for fresh water and was seen coming from the cellar roll-way as though water was stored there instead of cider. I can now hear his "leather trunks" grating over the rocky fields bringing water to us.

He wore heavy cow-hide long legged boots of liberal size and when he went to church in cold weather he wore an expensive fur coat that was the envy of less wealthy parishioners. He sat in the pew with the air of ownership of pretty much of the whole church, as viewed by me.

He left the church a thousand dollars by will, for the support of preaching. He had no children and that line of Sanborns is now extinct. He left the side-hill rocky farm and moved to Laconia some years before he died.

The farm was sold to George F. Mallard of Laconia for the wood and timber and the cultivated land was allowed to grow up and the building decay. Possibly the grass in some of the fields is now mowed but I doubt it.

Warren K. Kimball worked for him for years and acquired land and buildings. Some 16 years ago his buildings were struck by lightning and burned and he then bought the E. S. Robinson farm at Meredith Center and moved there, thus leaving Tucker Hill.

"Bowd" Piper lived on that road.
Henry Emery, a veteran of the Civil War owns a place here but lives in the city and comes to the farm occasionally. The house is closed most of the time.

Tom Leavitt lived on the first hip of the hill and died there, leaving some daughters and wife's sisters and Warren Glidden, a son of Jerry Glidden, bought the farm and then it passed to Joe Carlson and family. Caribou is to sell out or close up the place and move to Laconia to work in the car shops. He told me this the other day. And here will soon be another much talked of New Hampshire Abandoned Farm of slightly location.

I might go on and innumerate others,
but this sample is sufficient. It shows that tilling the soil on these places is not profitable.

One cloudy day I went with the other boys to the bay (Winnesquam) to swim.
The John Lang Swain's sand beach was the nearest and Warren Kimball, E. G.
Cate, and A. Glidden and myself made up the party.

Loon Island is a good third of a mile from the shore. Ed. Cate said he could swim over to the island and back and regardless of my remonstrance, struck out to do it and I suggested that someone take a boat that was chained and locked to a log on the beach, and follow along and take him in, should he become exhausted. It was an easy matter to get the boat as the end of the log was raised and the chain slipped off.

Cate swam the distance all right but came back in the boat, which was fastened to the log the same as before. Everything would have ended there on the safety first principle had not the boys got to squabbling over the boat, filling it with water and leaving it.

The next day Warren, Crockett, the owner of the boat, came accompanied by his wife, to use it. He was compelled to remove his clothes and wade out into the water and mad is a sight expression of his rage and he swore legal redress and vengeance on the perpetrators if he could find out who did it.
This was easily done as the Swain family knew us all.

He came to Meredith Center and went to Lane Plummer the postmaster and justice of the peace, and got out warrants for our arrest and served them on our parents. Father was stern with me, as he should be and told me to go immediately and settle it up. I did so, paying my share and loaning money to another to pay his part.

Esquire Plummer gave us a lump fine of $5.00 and I presume $4.00 went to Mr. Crockett and $1.00 to him. He served us right and let us off easy. I've always had a suspicion that no returns of the fine or escadale was ever given to the county as it did not appear in any printed reports.

I was much worked up over it and was afraid it might get to New England where I was attending school, and injure my social standing. It never did and at this late day I don't care. It learned me a lesson which I have not forgotten.
In emergencies use other people's property as you would your own and avoid trouble.

Suggestions on Raising Calves.

The crying need on many farms to day is more live stock. The calves should be raised, not only to keep up the number of good producing cows, but also to keep up the fertility of the farms.

Many farmers would like to raise more calves, but do not have enough milk, others have difficulty in raising good calves without milk.

The following formula has been used quite successfully for calf meal, as a substitute for milk—

15 pounds cheap flour, 15 pounds flaxseed meal,
10 pounds fine middlings,
10 pounds fine corn meal,
12 pound salt.

The calf should be allowed to remain with the dam for two or three days and then for two weeks should receive from 4 to 6 quarts of sweet milk daily. It is better to feed three times daily if this can be done conveniently.

At the end of two weeks warm skim milk may be substituted for the whole milk, and at the end of a week the skim milk may be fed wholly.

At the end of the second, or possibly third week a quart of the calf meal may be added. This should be fed warm and should be prepared by using 3 to 4 ounces of meal to each quart of water. Boiling water is used, and the mixture thoroughly stirred to remove lumps. The skim milk can be reduced to 4 quarts daily and the calf gradually increased to 4 to 6 quarts daily.

How to Cut Roses.

There is a right and a wrong way to cut roses. The choice of the latter may seriously injure the blossoming properties of the plants, it is pointed out by specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture. This applies particularly, of course, to rose plants chosen and grown especially for cut-bow production. Such roses will be largely of the perpetual blooming sorts. When a rose is cut from such plants, the roses or other perpetual bloomers—only two or three eyes of the current season's growth of that branch should be left on the plant. This should give the roses very long stems. Succeeding blossoms should be cut close to the ground. It will seem like destroying the bush to take so much off it, but if the object is the production of roses, the cutting away of the surplus wood will attain the desired end.

If the spring pruning has not been sufficiently severe the plant is likely to have long, naked, stalks and short stems to the flowers. With this character of growth only one or two strong leaf buds should be left on the branch when the flower is cut, so as to stimulate as much growth as possible from the base of the plant.

The greatest temptation to leave wood is where there are two or more buds on one branch, some being small when the terminal one is open. This temptation to follow a bad practice can be avoided by pinching off all side shoots after a bud has formed on the end of a branch. This prevents the formation of two or more buds on one stalk. This summer pruning will encourage additional blooms on varieties which bloom more than once a year.

All the Bridgton sweet corn is canned in Harrison this year. The establishment has given employment to many of our citizens in the past, but very little corn has been raised this year.

CO. D NOTES

Co. D has returned to Laredo after seven weeks of hard border patrol forty miles from that town, and is considered one of the best companies at the border, as well it should be, for this company has always been one of the best.

Jack Wilson has been made a second Lieutenant, Beulix Peterson has been made 1st Sergt., Alfred J. Dyer is now a Sergt., Charlie Blaquiere also Sergt. The following have been made corporals: Francis M. O'Brien, known as "Mickey," Francis Carroll, Arthur Foster, Ralph V. Jacobs, James A. Powers, Albert C. Snow, Ernest Walker, and Lester L. Witham. Robert Teasler and David Cockburn have been made musicians. Sergt. Alfred Dyer was so fortunate as to find the complete uniform and entire equipment of a "Bandit Captain" who had been attacked by bandits just before Co. D went there. In this attack several of our American soldiers had been shot to death in their tents and a lot of the bandits killed and some captured. Among the stuff Dyer found was a complete roster of the bandit band and in this roster were the names of some of the inhabitants of San Ygnacio, who had claimed to be friendly, but were merely spies. They were arrested and are now awaiting trial for murder.

This bandit captain was evidently wounded for there were shot holes and blood in the clothing. The Sergt. was commended for getting the stuff by the regular army Colonel, and told he had done a great thing for his country.

The Co. has a young wild cat for a mascot and several baby cotton tails. One man says, "Tell the rest of the boys they needn't write if they don't want to, but I tell you letters from home seem mighty fine." The ladies should take notice. All the men and officers are very profuse in their thanks for what is being done by the good people of Norway and South Paris and want every one to know they appreciate it very much.

The water is very bad until one gets used to it and getting used to it is much the same as the Irishman's horse getting used to eating nails. "When he got used to it he was dead begobs." Rattlesnakes, trapdoor spiders, tarantulas, centipedes, scorpions and a thousand other evils are abundant.

Many fine specimens of arrow heads are found.

Mail and everything had to be transported the forty miles in trucks and three trips a week were made. When a mistake was made in sending foodstuffs the table had to go a little short, causing some discomfort and a falling back on canned salmon and canned beef.

There are many rumors floating around that the regiment is soon to go home. And a fine regiment it is too. There is also a rumor that the coast artillery will go down and take its place so as to get the training.

The men are much pleased with the gun bags and housewives and particularly the former, as the guns are very hard to keep clean without them and they have expressed their thanks many times.

Capt. Stiles is very proud of his company and we have come to the conclusion that Massachusetts is not the only state that has good soldiers at the front.

The men are not allowed to write letters any more for the papers. This is an order from the government, so this is made up from extracts from a lot of letters and more will be written from time to time.

To the Ladies Writing Numbers in the Co. D Writing Contest.

Please hurry up your letters and send them to Co. D Aid Association, to be forwarded.

The men receiving those letters are enjoying them very much and it is hoped none of them will be disappointed as they are all looking forward to receiving them and are wondering who the writers are. Requests have been made from them for the names but the names will not be given. Please hurry along your letters.

Marker for Oxford Co. Revolutionary Soldiers.

The marker which is to be placed at Witherell Park by the Daughters of the American Revolution in honor of the Revolutionary soldiers of Oxford County, was brought from Edgar Holden's in Solom, Tuesday. This place was formerly the Herbert Frost place. Tim L. Heath cut the stone from its original location and R. K. Morrill brought it to the village with his oxen and horses. It is estimated that the stone weighs between eight and nine tons.

It is to be located near the corner of Witherell Park by Main and Lynn streets. The stone is to be labeled with a bronze plate on which is to be inscribed, "In memory of the Revolutionary soldiers of Oxford County erected by Abigail Whitman Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, 1916."

F. H. Cummings has a very beautiful and unique piece of Mexican pottery, a gift from Capt. M. P. Stiles, who with Co. D, is still stationed on the border.

The Pythian Sisters will meet at K. of P. Hall, Wednesday evening at 7:30 for a rehearsal.

A report of the National Convention at New Haven last July will be given at the Y. P. C. U. meeting of the Universalist Church next Sunday, September 24. The Union from South Paris is to meet with the Norway Union.

Raymond Evans is circulating a paper getting subscriptions for the High School Athletic club which is to help defray traveling expenses and other incidentals for the coming football season. The money which the Athletic club had, had to be turned in toward defraying expenses on the minstrel show, which has left the club with very little money for this season. The boys have bought their own suits.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Luck entertained Mr. and Mrs. Percy Oshier, Mr. and Mrs. Homer R. Luck and Doris Shepherd, Wednesday evening. Progressive whist was enjoyed which dining for refreshments were served by the hostess.

Mrs. George C. Yeaton, of Augusta, is spending a few days with Mr. Yeaton in town.

The Bassett restaurant has been closed for an indefinite time. Mrs. A. P. Bassett and Ella York have run the restaurant continuously for many years and are taking a much needed rest.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Woodward left Wednesday afternoon for Portland for a few days' stay with friends before returning to Clairmont, N. H. They went by auto and were accompanied by Lilla York as far as Yarmouth, who will visit her sister, Mrs. Valeria Jordan.

Madeline Pride, after spending a few weeks with relatives in Boston, returned home Saturday.

Russell-Edwards.

An unusual pretty home wedding took place Wednesday afternoon, September 20th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse P. Edwards on Bond street, when their daughter, Gladys Irene, was united in marriage to Henry Ambrose Russell.

The wedding took place at one o'clock and the ceremony was performed by the Rev. Robert J. Bruce, pastor of the Congregational Church of which the bride is a member. The single ring service was used.

The ceremony took place under an arch of pink and white hydrangeas and asters from which was suspended a wedding bell made of the same flowers. The entire house was profusely decorated with beautiful fall flowers.

The bride's dress was of white silk with messaline trimmings. She wore a veil caught with white astors and carried a shower bouquet of the same. The wedding march was played by Mrs. H. L. Horne. The best man was Percy Russell, a brother of the groom and the maid of honor was Mrs. Beryl (Knight) Russell. The maid of honor was given a dress of white crepe de chene with messaline trimmings.

Following the ceremony a reception was held from 1:30 to 3:00 and one hundred and fifty invitations had been sent out. The ushers were Gladys Wood and Bessie Chase. Helen Holmes served punch and the refreshments by Blanche Scribner. Berenice Nash served the wedding cake which was made by Mrs. Percy Nevers. The penny was found by Berenice Nash, the button by Blanche Scribner, the thimble by Lillian Edwards and the ring by Mrs. Edwards.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse P. Edwards and has always made her home in Norway, where she has a large circle of friends. The bridegroom is the son of Woodbury M. Russell of Norway and has resided at North Norway.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell were the recipients of a large number of wedding presents including silver, cut glass and linen.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell left amid a shower of confetti and after spending a short honeymoon in camp at Locke's Mills, they will reside in their new home, "Valley Farm," at Noble's Corner.

SOUTH PARIS.

Has Relatives in Town.

Geraldine Farrar, who will be the great star of this year's Maine Music festivals is to-day the foremost and most popular lyric soprano on the operatic stage. Farrar comes of old New England stock from "down in Maine," the state which has given to the world such wonderful singers as Lillian Nordica, Emma Eames and Annie Louise Carey. Down in Maine, where she still has many relatives, she is pronounced with the accent on the first syllable, that is the way her father, Sidney Farrar, and her mother, her own name, but Miss Farrar has placed the accent on the last syllable. "This is not a case of affectation by any means. Miss Farrar, when she sailed for Germany in 1909 to continue her studies, called herself Geraldine Farrar with the accent well on the first syllable. When however, she made her debut in Berlin and sprung at once into extraordinary popularity, the Germans, and following them, the French and the Italians, pronounced her name with the accent on the second syllable that being the easiest form for the foreign ear. Miss Farrar has continued the custom. One day one of her old schoolmates from Melrose, Massachusetts asked her why she had changed her name. She replied that she had not changed it, but that it had been changed for her.

with the accent on the first syllable Farrar has always been, but now that I am a personage I am Geraldine Farrar, with a very strong accent on the last syllable, and that is what I expect to remain until I die."

Paris Grange met Sept. 16 at 8 p. m. All but two of the regular officers were present. The committee on Fair exhibit reported as having won the second prize. The net receipts of the "Cattle Show" were $118.00. After the usual routine of business, the contest was taken up by Brother Stearns' side, and they made a score of 1065 points. Brother Thayer's side followed, scoring 1720 points. The next meeting will be held October 7 at 1:30 p. m.

The Delta Alphas will hold a corn roast, Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Roscoe Bennett.

Miriam Pratt of Wollesey Hills, Mass., is the guest for a couple weeks of Mrs. Charles R. Elder.

Let's Quit.

Let's quit talking about things till we know the facts.

Let's quit speaking evil of any man. Of the absent ones say nothing but good.

Let's quit quoting "they say" till we know who "they say" is. "They say" is an innocent liar.

Let's quit talking about an epidemic before the epidemic arrives.

Let's quit worrying about disease bugs before they arrive in town.

Let's quit stirring up a community stir.

Let's quit talking about it in the store, street, factory, and home. Subject it, and not pursue it. Change the subject; talk about the weather if the mind is mindless of all else.

Let's quit putting doubt, fear, anxiety and worry into the community: displace it with trust, confidence, hope and faith.

Let's quit our fear. Fear anticipates and presses the way for that which we fear. Fear poisons, faith strengthens and resists evil.

"Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are of good report, if there be any virtue and if there be any praise, think on these things."

Rev. C. I. Spear, So. Paris, Me.

James Evans. James Evans, Esq., died September 5th of bright's disease, aged 77 years. He was a son of the late Capt. James and Lucinda Evans. He was born on the farm in Hiram now owned by Eli C. Wadsworth, and resided there some sixteen years. Since then he has resided at East Hiram, conducting in recent years a store and post office. He has also served the public with ability and fidelity as town clerk, selectman and trial justice. He has been blind for some time, but until the last month he has loved to go to the store daily and talk with his many friends. He was married in 1864 to Abbie Burbank of East Hiram, now deceased. He leaves one child, Clifford Evans, Esq., postmaster and merchant at East Hiram.

Mr. Evans was the first man who enlisted in Hiram in 1861 in defence of the Union and served several years. We note the fact that Mr. Evans had his diary that he lost on a battlefield returned to him last year. Also a fact, that in April, 1865, Mr. Evans, with his neighbor, Ephraim E. Hanson, played in a band in the procession that escorted the remains of President Lincoln through the streets of Philadelphia to rest in state for a day in Independence Hall.

Mr. Evans was a Free Mason and a Knight of Pythias. In an acquaintance of half a century we have never known him to be guilty of an obscene, profane or angry word or an unkind act. He died as he had lived, at peace with God and his fellowmen, and leaves a record without a stain.

It is almost safe to say that every other material used for fashioning of fall garments will present a hairy surface. That the materials, no matter how heavy they may appear, are light in weight goes to show that manufacturers are bound to meet the requirements of women who wish to follow the dictates of fashion and yet, who are sensible enough not to suffer in silence.

Secret of a Well-Spent Life. It may be that you have tried the following things before and given them up as a bad job. Pucker up courage and try them just once more, won't you? This may be the time you'll win.

Try speaking to that man down the road that always snaps your head off when you try to be friendly with him. Drop after drop at last wears away the stone.

Try doing all the barn work without getting out of patience at one of the cattle, hogs or horses. But if you fail, up and at it again in the morning.

Try breaking yourself of some bad habits. You know what yours are. It may be a hard job, but you can do it, just as sure as you live; and after you are free from these things that have been troubling you, you will be glad and thankful every day, and ready to tackle some other troublesome thing.

Try learning one worth-while new thing each day. Much that folks read and hear goes through their heads like water through a sieve. Make it a rule to hold things with a grip like iron. The thing may seem scarcely worth remembering just at the time of it, but the day will certainly come when you will be glad that you can reach up on memory's shelf and lay hold of it.

Try living at your very best just one day. You will not have to do it all alone. The love you will find out your secret and help you at every turn. Keep this up every day. It is the secret of a life well spent.—Farmer Vincent.

NORWAY AND VICINITY.

Norway and Paris Jitney Business.
We have a more or less poverty-stricken rail transportation between the two villages. It is managed by a hump along through snow drifts in the winter and hump along with open cars in summer. It's with us all the year and fills a much needed want in the community. All of us would dislike to get on without it. Even though the cars are not handsome and unholster in the latest art, and a hump about, moving over a streak of rust and an aggregation of hummocks, it serves a useful purpose and has a right to be dealt with fairly by all good people.

The N. & P. Street Railway are responsible as common carriers. Insist that the jitney business give the public the same security. This can be done by a corporation ordinance or town license with proper safe guards to life and time of those who prefer gasoline transportation.

As it existed last week, its unequal, unfair and unjust to rights and a crippled transportation company which is serving us all the year, and making little or no profit in so doing. The small profit shown in published statements has been taken out of rolling stock and road bed rather than real earnings.

Howard Young of the Railway Company has not asked us to write this, neither do we ride on passes over the road. We speak of it only as fairness to a useful corporation that is struggling along with us.

It's fair, gentlemen, whether this company's stock is owned in Jamaica or Jerusalem, they have rights, we have rights, the public have rights, and all should be safe guarded and jitney business should pay a license and give a bond the same as required in many towns and cities. Why not?

Maine Lady Honored.

Many friends of Mrs. Wallace R. Tarbox of Portland, Me., are pleased with her election at the recent meeting of the National Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic as national inspector on the staff of the national president. She might have been elected to the office of national president, being nominated to that position but withdrawing in favor of Mrs. Virginia McClure of Peoria, Ill., whose husband was a soldier of the Civil War. It is highly probable that Mrs. Tarbox will be next national president.

That the ability and worth of Mrs. Tarbox is appreciated abroad as well as in her own state was clearly demonstrated last week at the National Convention Ladies G. A. R. in Kansas City, Mo., where she was the choice of the majority of the large number present for their National President, but in a most pleasing manner she declined to run against a personal friend, Mrs. McClure, widow of Col. John McClure of Peoria, Ill., who was elected National President.

Mrs. Tarbox wrote and recited a beautiful poem for the memorial service that was held during the Convention for members that had passed on during the year. Her report as National Senior Vice President was also highly complimentary.

Mrs. Tarbox while not a Grand Army man is very loyal to the Veterans and always accompanies his wife to the conventions and their presence is always an inspiration at a Grand Army Convention. Mr. and Mrs. Tarbox visited in Leavenworth and Topeka.

Cecil E. Brown, who has been reporting on the Advertiser the past summer, returned to the U. of M. Law School at Bangor, Monday. This is his last year in college.

Why Build Roads Totally

Unit to Ride Over.

That's the question. Why? Lack of money, one would say, and another, some other excuse. Lack of money is a reasonable excuse for a limited quantity of good road, but it's no excuse for having that small amount of road full of humps and hollows. Gravel roads in roads are usually made by the thoughtless or slovenly of the road builders. They hurry to get over and done. Cart loads of earth are dumped bodily onto the road-bed and then spread around much after the old fashioned way of spreading manure. You never can make a smooth surface road that way. It's said to be an impossibility by those who know and have had experience in modern earth-made road ways. Wherever a cart-load of earth or even coarse sand is dumped there you will soon have a hump and around it a corresponding hollow. For proof, see road-bed, now badly worn, between Norway and Norway Lake. You can almost accurately count the number of humps of earth put into it. "Dragging" helps some but you cannot make a smooth road that way.

A portion of Pleasant Street at South Paris is being surfaced with fine gravel. Good road making material. It was put on just before the winter and the heavy travel that week helped to roll it down. How was it put on? Was it dumped and then spread with shovel and hoe? Last Monday we noticed a dumped load in the road and have mentally marked this place and before next July you will know where the "good road" in this county that has Watch and see.

How shall we do it? Well, you guess. You know how. The method usually pursued is born of Simon Pure shiftlessness and contrary to all rules of road-surface-making and you know it too.

Don't allow yourself to believe after a good road is built it will remain so for all time. Don't forget. Cement, concrete, vitrolized brick are just the same. They must have almost constant care to keep them smooth. They quickly wear out.

In proof of this we'll sight you to any "good road" in this county that has had two summers' travel.

Faunce-Thomson

A wedding of unusual interest to Norway people will take place at the Unitarian church, Atlantic street, Lynn, tomorrow afternoon at four o'clock, when Miss Dorothy Louise Faunce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Parkhurst Faunce of that city will be married to Stuart Thomson of Schenectady, N. Y., son of Prof. Elihu Thomson, the electrical inventor. The ceremony will be performed by Rev. Dr. Maxwell Savage, assisted by the bride's uncle, Dr. William H. P. Faunce, president of Brown University, Providence, R. I.

Following the ceremony there will be a reception at the home of the bride's parents, 4 Prescott Road, and later the couple will make an automobile tour through the Adirondacks and south, returning to Schenectady, where Mr. Thomson is a consulting engineer at the works of the General Electric Co.

Because of the groom's period of mourning for his mother, the wedding and reception will be simple. The bride's gown will be draped with the same lace which adorned her mother's wedding gown. She will be attended by Miss Gertrude Deming of Chicago and Miss Eleanor Conant of Providence. Mr. Thomson's best man will be his brother, Roland Thomson, of Swampscott, Mass., Edward LaCroix of Schenectady, Chester Rice Donald and Malcolm Thomson and Gerald Hitchings of Lynn.

Music at the reception and ceremony will be by the Philharmonic trio of Boston, Miss Beatrice Phinney, harpist; Paul Kelsey, cellist, and Maud Phillips, violinist. Miss Faunce had her coming out party in November, 1911, and her musical debut was made in May of the following year. She attended Miss Wheeler's finishing school at Providence, and has studied voice culture extensively in Paris, Chicago and New York. She has played at several recitals at the Cercle Francaise at Harvard University. With all her study and concentration of musical development, she has found time to mingle frequently with the younger society set, with whom she is very popular.

Miss Faunce's father was for many years associated with B. F. Spinney and L. P. Bartlett in the shoe manufacturing business in Norway. In company with her father and mother, Miss Faunce spent an entire season in Norway a few years ago. Commencing with yesterday, the Faunces will entertain a large house party at their home in Lynn.

Mr. Thomson was born in Swampscott, Mass., graduated from the public schools there and later from Harvard University. Like his father he has given much study to the development of electrical devices.

All Seats Free.

We are asked to state that at the Christian Science Lecture next October 2nd, in the Grange Hall, all seats will be free, and first comers will be seated first. No seats will be reserved. The attendance at the lecture given last December filled the hall, it would therefore not be unwise to be there on this occasion ahead of time.

Board of Trade Meeting Friday Evening. At Municipal Court Room at 8 o'clock. It will be necessary to make arrangements for the rental of office for the Agricultural Demonstrator.

Action must be taken regarding the numbering of houses preparatory to the free mail delivery. Don't let just a few attend to this numbering as you may not be satisfied.

The whole scheme of house numbering must be worked out and all house owners are interested. The Main street numbers may have to be changed. Be there and have your say in the doing.

Attend the meeting and have a say or forever keep silent if you are not satisfied.

Next Veranda Club meeting will be with Mrs. Maggie Libby, Lower Main street, Thursday afternoon, September 28th.

The stone corner post near Richardson's market, Main and Bridge streets is doomed. It must give way to cement and curbing. What would Charles Johnston, who set on it so many years think if he were living? Even Newt Small and others took delight in leaning against it. The old land marks of the town have fallen into various hands. Pass round the handkerchief! The stone was pulled out Wednesday morning. A rope was slipped around it and a team hitched to the rope. There was fully as much of the stone beneath ground as above. When it came out it resembled a gigantic tooth.

BETHEL

Mrs. Bertha G. Keniston of Lovell is the new matron at Holden Hall, Gould's Academy.

The falling leaves remind us that summer has gone. Boards are still being shipped from the Walker & Carter lot to Berlin.

Some of the farmers here are harvesting their sweet corn and some few are yet haying on wet land.

Many autos go flying by here and no wonder so many accidents take place, heedless, ignorant men sometimes for chauffeurs. It is so easy to get into one and slide away, but not so easy to get out of one.

Our sister in Colorado writes she is coming back to her mother state next summer.

F. G. Sloan has returned. If eggs are 40 cents in Paris, why don't they try it here?

Florence Cross is the teacher here.

Plan to Raise Lobsters.

It is expected that a lobster raising plant on the New England coast under the direction of the bureau of fisheries, will be in operation in time to take care of part of the brood of 1917. In the supplementary appropriation act, approved July 1, $5000 was provided for the establishment of this plant, and officials of the bureau of fisheries have been at work locating the site.

The hatchery hatched 128,700,000 lobsters on the Maine coast in the year ending June 30, but many of them probably will be destroyed by fish, because they are too young to protect themselves. Also, in the existing plants of the bureau the confined space allowed to the lobsters causes cannibalism to be practiced.

The new plant will permit the raising of the lobsters to a point where they will acquire the habit of seeking safety in the rocks and crannies of the sea bottom when danger threatens.

Hunters, Be Careful.

Emphasizing the destruction of property and human life caused by careless hunters, a warning issued by the Forest Service urges all sportsmen to use the greatest possible care to prevent forest fires and to avoid such accidents as the one which caused the death of Forest Ranger Clark in Montana, last year.

Mr. Clark, who was in Montana for a year by a careless hunter, who fired with out waiting to be sure what he was shooting at. To show that such accidents are not uncommon, the warning quotes an estimate of the Biological Survey that between 150 and 200 persons are annually killed in hunting accidents in this country and that this number is increasing.

Furthermore, it is stated, 15 per cent of all the forest fires in the National Forests are caused by careless hunters and other campers.

Hydrangeas now hold the center of the stage.

THE BOY'S BASEBALL AMBITIONS

To the typical boy, the prominent figure of the baseball diamond are his greatest heroes. He would rather play in a World's series than sit in Congress. And the money end of it is very dazzling. Every school ball nine is full of young fellows who cherish the dream of eventually playing with some league team.

It is a puzzling question to many parents, how far a boy who is a good athlete should be encouraged to enter baseball or other sports in a professional way. A good ball player can, of course, for a few years, make more money than what than in any other. If he has resolution and a cool head, he can accumulate a little capital, and use it as a means of creating a business opening.

There are many instances of noted ball players who have salted down their savings in farms. In all lines of industry many of these fellows are doing well and laying foundations of substantial success.

While the leagues cease play in the fall the players get the opportunity to lay the foundation of some future business success. They can study law, engineering, farming, whatever appeals to them, and many of them do so. Unfortunately there are a lot of others who spend the winter months in loafing, or in work connected with sports that leads to no business success.

Baseball life has many temptations. The management of course discourages dissipation, but there is constant incitement in that direction. There is every tendency to free spending. Some athletes have resolution enough to save money, but too many of them finally invest it foolishly and without preparation for business. Before encouraging a boy to enter professional sport, his friends ought to be sure that he has a firm mental fiber that can resist the deterioration of his environment.

FREE ADVERTISING.

One of the best articles on the subject of what may justly be termed grafters after the newspaper man's stock in trade appeared recently in an editorial, the statements being credited to the Detroit Herald:

Nobody ever thinks of going to the coal dealer and asking him to send up to the church or lodge room to heat up the building for a meeting or entertainment. Nobody ever asks the coal dealer to donate ice cream, nor does one suggest that the electric light company furnish lights for the occasion.

But people often express surprise and resentment if the newspaper man asks remuneration for an advertising notice relative to aforesaid meeting or entertainment. If the coal dealer or the ice cream man or the electric light company should voluntarily donate said coal, ice cream or lights, the recipients thereof would be exceedingly grateful, and would probably instruct the newspaper man to run a free notice telling the public all about the generosity of aforesaid coal dealer, ice cream man or electric light company. But nobody runs a notice extolling the generosity of the newspaper man. For free advertising, especially of the reading notice brand, which by the way is the most expensive in time and labor, is taken for granted as the natural gift.

The editor very gladly gives a certain amount of complimentary space to charitable and other organizations weekly. He gives this freely, to the exact limit of space available. This complimentary service means work for the make-up man. It is work absolutely without hope of reward. And there are in this community persons so devoid of appreciation of courtesy extended, that not only do they fail to express gratitude for favors shown, but on the occasion feel it incumbent upon themselves to bawl out the editor if perchance he does not allow them the quota of space they consider their natural right.

If the butcher should present them with a fine juicy steak Friday evening, would these same persons visit his shop on Saturday morning and roast him to a turn because the steak was not sufficiently large for their entire family. The newspaper man's space is just as much his stock in trade as the coal dealer's, the ice cream man's, the electric light company's, electricity or the butcher's meats. The average man never thinks of the hours of toil, downright sweat and tribulations every editor must undergo. Every line of type money, and there is a lot of money tied up in type, presses and other equipment. Paper and ink, rent, heat, light, power and insurance must be paid for out of the income derived from the newspaper man's stock in trade.

Making People Think.

"For as he thinketh within himself, so is he." Solomon would seem to imply that one man is distinguished from another man by the thoughts that he thinks within him. But what about the person who doesn't think at all?

As a matter of fact the average person must be driven to think. Few people do any real thinking unless they have to. We are driven to be thoughtful, some by the necessity of making a living, or by the cruel wrench of misfortune, or when sorrow disorients us from the ordinary ways of routine life.

The great war, with its startling disruptions and its far-reaching effects on all the life of men, is a vast thought-provoker. It has introduced the question "Why?" and "How?" into the minds of nations and into the minds of those who have been accepting traditional opinions, as though they were eternal.

No man or woman can afford not to form the habit of getting alone these days and thinking out for himself or herself what these days of shocking disaster and loss of human life mean. The Christian Herald.

GIRL COULD NOT WORK

How She Was Relieved from Pain by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Taunton, Mass.—"I had pains in both sides and when my periods came I had to stay at home from work and suffer a long time. One day a woman came to our house and asked my mother why I was suffering. Mother told her that I suffered every month and she said, 'Why don't you buy a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?'"

My mother bought it and the next month I was so well that I worked all the month without staying at home a day. I am in good health now and have told lots of girls about it."—Miss CLARICE MORRIS, 22 Russell Street, Taunton, Mass.

Thousands of girls suffer in silence every month rather than consult a physician. If girls who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, backache, headache, dragging-down, sensation, fainting spells or indigestion would take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a safe and pure remedy made from roots and herbs, much suffering might be avoided.

Pansies for Thoughts.

The pansies had been taken up carefully with a great lump of moist earth about their roots, wrapped in pieces of old newspaper and arranged in rows in a shabby little wagon, and the three boys in charge had stopped at a corner that I had to pass. It had been a trying day. I was tired, and a trifle blue so I decided to pass without even looking at the shabby little wagon and its precious load.

But, I just couldn't march by in dignified silence. Their little faces were so bright and eager, and so full of life, and they were just the type of barefooted youngsters that I like to talk with. They didn't ask me to buy pansies. They didn't even mention that they had pansies for sale, but just as I was beside them, one of the boys remarked casually: "I tell you they're mighty good pansies, plants." Another one responded—"Yes, and they'll live over winter and bloom next summer, too." Then a third little fellow bending over a purple beauty, said with much feeling: "This 'un is my favorite!" putting emphasis on the "un."

I had to stop for six eager wistful eyes were watching me. "What are you going to do with all those beauties, I asked, and the three answered in chorus—"Sell 'em."

And then came the exciting part of the trade, for I had only a half dollar and a nickel, and they had no change for they had only just started in business. Luckily there were plenty of five cent pieces, although this line did not include the favorite. As I looked down into the face of the beauty next to the purple one, I had a sudden thought—And as I carried home the tiny plant I had purchased and had dug a place in my own yard, patted down the soil carefully about its feet, the little flower gave me a comforting thought, and I was in a cheerful frame of mind.

Maybe to barefoot boys pansies stand for money, but I'll hold to the old saying: "Pansies for pleasant thoughts."

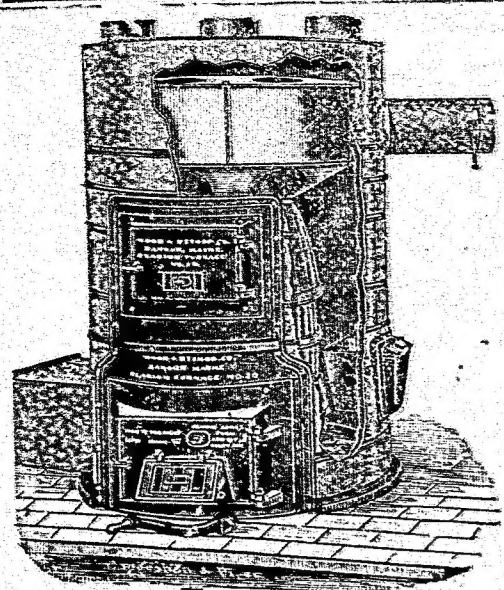

Some Facts About Advertising.

A twenty-five cent ad in our Intelligence Column offers to Oxford County people more publicity for the money than any other newspaper or periodical, bar none. This may have an extravagant sound but it is the strictest of truths.

The Advertiser goes to the homes, chiefly in our county. It is in most instances read by every member of the family and is often loaned or remailed.

It would be an almost unheard of thing whatever you have to offer, personal property, real estate, services, or otherwise, if you had not the paper did not find you a customer. The same applies with even greater certainty when you are in the market as a purchaser, you will save both time and money by letting the public know what you want. When you want to sell, two, three or half a dozen customers are very much better than one.

"Goodnight Corns!"

We Use "GETS-IT!"

3 Drops in 2 Seconds. That's All "GETS-IT" Does the Rest.

Never Fails.

"Really, I never could see how some few people use the most difficult and painful way they can find to get rid of corns. They wrap their toes up with bandages into a package that fills their shoes full of feet and makes corns so painful they've got to walk sideways and wrinkle up their faces. Or they use salves that eat right into the toe and make it raw and sore, or they'll use plasters that make the corns bigger, or pick the corns out. Just put 3 drops on. It dries instantly. No pain, fuss or trouble. The corn, callus or wart loosens and comes off. Millions use nothing else. "GETS-IT" is sold and recommended by druggists everywhere, 25c a bottle, or sent on receipt of price, by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill.

Sold in Norway and recommended as the world's best corn remedy by F. P. Stone.
